Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 112

1. The following is a quotation of the second paragraph of 35 U.S.C. 112:

The specification shall conclude with one or more claims particularly pointing out and distinctly claiming the subject matter which the applicant regards as his invention.

2. Claim 3 is rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, second paragraph, as being indefinite for failing to particularly point out and distinctly claim the subject matter which applicant regards as the invention.

Line 2 “an upper ends” is improper English.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

1. The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

2. Claims 3 and 6 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by Miller et al (4899500).

Miller et al shows a method for stabilizing a mobile communication tower/light tower having the steps of attaching upper ends of a plurality of guy wires to the erected tower, attaching the lower ends of the plurality of guy wires to the chassis of the trailer and tightening the plurality of guys wires.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

3. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

4. Claims 1-2, 4-5 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Miller et al (4899500) in view of McGinnis et al (5025606).

Miller et al shows a communication tower having a trailer with a chassis, , a hitch, a plurality of chassis guy wire attaching points, a plurality of leveling mechanisms, a telescopic tower pivoted mounted on the trailer, a mechanism to raise and lower the tower, a plurality of guy wire attaching points located on the tower, a plurality of guys wires each with an upper end attached to one of the tower guy wire attaching points and a lower end attached to one of the chassis guy wire attaching points, the chassis has a plurality of outriggers, each outrigger having an outrigger guy wire attaching point, a foot which can be adjusted vertically, wherein the lower end of the guy wire is attached to an outrigger guy wire attaching point.

Miller et al does not show two or more wheels mounted on the chassis, the outriggers being retractable.

McGinnis et al shows a tower being supported on adjustable foot with two wheels on the chassis to enable easy relocation of the tower.

It would have been obvious to one having ordinary skill in the art at the time of the invention to modify Miller et al's structure to show two or more wheels mounted on the chassis, the outriggers being retractable because having two or more wheels on the chassis would enable easy relocation of the tower as taught by McGinnis, and having the outriggers retractable would have been obvious as it enables the easy and neat transportation of the tower, and it has also been held that the provision of adjustability, where needed, involves only routine skill in the art. In re Stevens, 101 USPQ 284 (CCPA 1954).

Conclusion

The prior art made of record and not relied upon is considered pertinent to applicant's disclosure. The prior art shows different communication tower designs.
